What is it like to live in an Israeli Settlement?

Wednesday, April 10
12:30 - 2:00 PM
0142 Holzapfel
Light refreshments will be served
Please RSVP at www.israelstudies.umd.edu

Most scholarship on the Israeli settlements examines them in the context of the Israeli—Palestinian conflict. In this talk, professor Ringel will examine what has been an unexplored aspect of the Israeli settlements— the cultural, and religious life of their inhabitants.

Joseph Ringel is a visiting professor of Israel Studies at the University of Maryland. His areas of research include the history of Jewish communities under Islam, rabbinic responses to modernity, and the Sephardi–Mizrahi experience in the state of Israel. He is currently working on a manuscript on the history of Sephardi religious culture in Israel.

For more information, please contact: israelstudies-contact@umd.edu