The Economic Triangle:
China, Israel, and the United States

Featuring Professor Aron Shai
Rector of Tel Aviv University

Welcoming Remarks and Moderated by:
Prof. Jonathan Wilkenfeld
Associate Provost and Associate
Vice President for International Programs

Light refreshments will be provided.

DATE: Monday, October 31, 2011
LOCATION: Van Munching Hall
Room 2517, Smith School’s Executive Dining Room
TIME: 11:00 am - 12:30 pm

Please join us in welcoming Prof. Aron Shai, Rector of Tel Aviv University and incumbent of its Shoul N. Eisenberg Chair for East Asian Affairs. A specialist in modern Chinese history and its foreign relations, he is the founder and the first Chairman of the University’s Department of East Asian Studies. Professor Shai has authored several major works on China’s modern history in English and Hebrew, including Britain and China 1941-1947: Imperial Momentum, and Origins of the War in the East: Britain, China, Japan 1937-1939, as well as a number of articles. His lecture at UMD will focus largely on the economic elements tying together the Chinese, Israeli, & U.S. economies.

www.facebook.com/GIIISatUMD
www.twitter.com/GIIISatUMD

For questions regarding this event, please visit www.israelstudies.umd.edu or contact Jennifer Cornejo at 301-405-9413.

Sponsored by: The Institute for International Programs, The Dingman Center for Entrepreneurship, The Confucius Institute at Maryland, and The Gildenhorn Institute for Israel Studies